FLORIDA IS A CLOSED PRIMARY ELECTION STATE

(Sections 100.061 and 101.021, Fla. Stat. and Article VI, Section 5(b), Florida Constitution)

By law, only voters who are registered members of a political party that will have candidates on the primary election ballot may vote for that party's candidates in the primary election. Voters without a party affiliation are not eligible to vote for party candidates in a primary election, except when:

- All candidates in the same race have the same party affiliation, and the winner will have no opposition in the general election (This is known as a Universal Primary Contest),
- Nonpartisan offices, such as judicial and school board, appear on the primary election ballot,
- Other nonpartisan local offices appear on the primary election ballot,
- Referendum questions appear on the primary election ballot.

PROVISIONAL VOTING

(Section 101.048, Fla. Stat.)

If your eligibility to vote cannot be determined for any reason at a polling place or early voting site, you are entitled to vote a provisional ballot.

If you vote a provisional ballot, you will be provided a written notice of your rights as a provisional ballot voter. You have the right to present further evidence of your eligibility up to 2 days after the election.

Depending on the reason why you voted a provisional ballot, there may be no further need to provide evidence for your ballot to count.

- If the only reason you voted a provisional ballot is that you did not bring a form of acceptable picture and signature identification to the polls, you do not need to provide any further evidence of your eligibility. The canvassing board will count your ballot if you voted in the right precinct and the signature on your provisional ballot certificate matches the signature on your voter registration record.
- If you vote a provisional ballot for any other reason, you have the opportunity to provide proof of eligibility to the Supervisor of Elections no later than 5:00 p.m. on the second day following the election. You may submit evidence in person, by fax, or by email. The canvassing board will determine whether or not to count your ballot based on the evidence provided regarding your eligibility to vote in the election.
- Your Notice of Rights includes instructions on how to find out if your provisional ballot was counted, and if not, the reason why.

VOTING SYSTEM

(Section 101.015, Fla. Stat.)

The Department of State is responsible for approving the voting system and equipment that may be used to conduct elections in the State of Florida.

The Lee County Supervisor of Elections uses an Optical Scan Tabulator (DS200®) to tabulate paper ballots at the polls and early voting sites.

Vote-by-Mail ballots are counted using high-speed Optical Scan Readers (DS850®) in the Tabulation Center at the Main Office of the Supervisor of Elections.

Lee County uses the certified voting system and equipment provided by Election Systems and Software, Inc.

VOTING AT THE POLLS OR AN EARLY VOTING SITE

Florida law requires voters to cast a paper ballot.

Use blue or black ink to fill in the oval as shown in this image

Upon arriving at a polling place or early voting site, voters are asked to present picture and signature identification and sign an electronic check-in device. After signing the device, a paper ballot is issued to the voter. It is important to fill in the oval completely when marking selections on the ballot.

When the voter has finished voting, the voter proceeds to the DS200® Optical Scan Tabulator to insert his or her voted ballot for tabulation.

POLLING PLACE ACCESSIBILITY

(Section 101.715, Fla. Stat.)

All polling places must be accessible and usable by people with disabilities. Each polling place used for any federal, state or local election must comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act, ss. 553.501-553.513. It is the responsibility of the Supervisor of Elections to ensure that each polling place is in compliance or it may not be used for voting purposes.

If you are a person with a disability and need assistance at your polling place or an early voting site, notify the Deputy upon arriving at the site.

POLL WATCHERS

(Section 101.131, Fla. Stat.)

Besides poll workers present at the polls, you may see people who have been designated as poll watchers. The following entities and persons may each have one poll watcher in each polling room or early voting area at any one time during an election:

- Each political party,
- Each political committee with issues on the ballot that they are registered to support or oppose,
- Each candidate.

Poll watchers may not interact with voters. They must be registered voters in the county in which they serve and cannot be candidates or law enforcement officers. The Supervisor of Elections provides poll watchers with an identification badge that they must wear while in the polling room or early voting site.

EXPRESSVOTE

(Section 101.56075 Fla. Stat.)

Voters with disabilities may use a touch-screen ballot marking device (ExpressVote®) when voting at their polling place or an early voting site.

The ExpressVote® Voting System allows voters with special needs to mark and cast their vote summary cards independently.

Ballots can be provided in both audio and visual formats: touch screen, headphones, a rocker paddle, and a sip-n-puff device can be used to vote.

Voters have the ability to review their selections and make changes before printing a vote summary card. After printing the card indicating the voter's selections, the card is inserted into the DS200® Optical Scan Tabulator for tabulation.

If you are a voter with a disability and would like a demonstration or have questions regarding the ExpressVote®, please contact the Lee County Supervisor of Elections.

Election Systems and Software, Inc. is the authorized vendor of the ExpressVote® Voting System.

VOTING RIGHTS ACT

AND MINORITY LANGUAGE CITIZENS

In 2011, based on the results of the 2010 Census, Florida became a covered jurisdiction for the minority language of Spanish under Section 203 of the Voting Rights Act. Section 203 of the Voting Rights Act is generally referred to as Minority Language Citizens.

Before 2011, some Florida counties were already long-time designated Section 203 covered jurisdictions. In 2011, Lee County became a newly designated jurisdiction subject to the requirements of Section 203 of the Act.

Section 203 of the Act covers jurisdictions with more than 10,000 citizens, or over 5 percent of the total voting age citizens, with limited English proficiency who are members of a single minority language group.

These individuals may not speak English as their primary language and may have a limited ability to read, speak, write, or understand English and are entitled to language assistance under the Act.

The Act prohibits states and their political subdivisions from imposing voting qualifications or prerequisites to voting, standards, practices or procedures that deny or curtail the right of a United States citizen to vote because of race, color, or belonging to a minority language group.

In 1975, Congress amended the Act by adding Section 203. Congress found that through the use of various practices and procedures, citizens of language minorities had been effectively excluded from participation in the electoral process and declared that in order to enforce the guarantees of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the U.S. Constitution, it was necessary to eliminate such discrimination by prohibiting those practices.
